A Scene Made from Candy

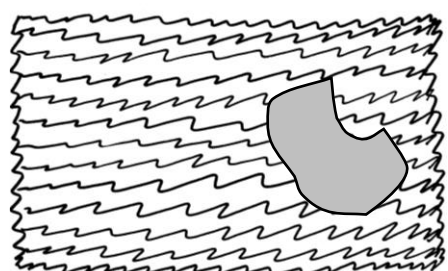

We went to a shop where a man made things from candy. He made a candy train and a candy dog with a wagging tail. He made a scene with a hut on the plains. It was made of cake. It had a trail of icing. The grass was made of gum drops. When I got home I did try to make things from candy like him. But I did fail. I got my icing and did aim at a cake, but it spilled and made a stain on the rug. I think I must wait until my brain gets a chance to train some more at this.
