The View from Space

A man flew into space.

“What a view!” he cried.

His crew helped him fly his new space ship. Just a few of them got to fly up in space. Most had to wait and see it on the screen. The man's space suit was not easy to make. They needed math to sew it the best way. While in space, the man had to screw a wing onto the space ship. He drew up plans to explore more of space. Back at the screen the crew did not have much to do. They ate stew and blew on it because it was so hot. They did chew gum till he got back. When he came back from space, he said, “Oh, my! I grew!”
