The Old Civic Place

We did take a trip to an old civic place. It had ivy on the stones. The guide told us a myth that there had once been an elf that sang a hymn and did play on his flute. On the side of one stone there is a symbol for the system of rules that they did use. They had a space to use for science because they did like physics a lot. They had a gym to stay fit. They lit a flame for the games they did play. They had a place to go if you were sick. If you had a symptom, you had to rest in bed for quite a while.
