The North Sea

A team set off from a port to explore the North Sea. They packed pork and beef for the trip. They did think it would be a short trip. But then a storm came. The sail was torn. The crew did tie it with a cord. When they landed, it was dark. They could not see where they were. One man lit a torch. He blew a horn to call for help. There was a town near/by. The men from the town came to help. They showed the crew how to find food like acorns and roots. They told them which stems had thorns. In a year, the crew had a new home. A baby was born and all came to cheer.
