What Will the Spy Try?

The spy wore a suit, wig and glasses as his disguise. It made him seem quite like an odd penguin. The spy went to wait on the men who came to dine at the lunch spot. There was guilt on their faces. The spy tried to give them fruit juice, but the fluid spilled onto one man's coat.

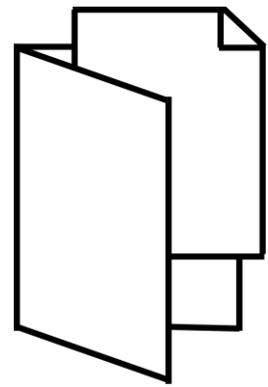

“Now this is ruined!” he yelled. “I will be suing you.”

“I think you are valuing the price of that coat as more than it is. I did not give you a bruise. I just spilled a bit. I will get you a free biscuit to make up for it.”

But the spy spilled the drink because he hoped to get close to the man.

He stole the file from the man's coat while he cleaned it!
