

Clothespin Passing Game

Here is a fun way to help young children develop their fine motor skills.

- Print these pictures onto thick cardstock (preferably color) and cut them out.
- Tape each animal to a piece of string (or ribbon) at least one yard long.
- All strings should be the exact same length for fairness.
- Tape the other end of the string to a pencil.
- Have children sit in a row with their pencils in their laps and the animals extended the full distance of the string.
- On the go signal, all children must turn their pencils in order to wind the string around them (demonstrate how to do this first).
- The first child to bring their animal to them is the winner!
